November 17, 2020

Speaker: Mazen “Zee” Alameddine, Lizzie Wilson– Engineers Without Borders

Title: Engineers Without Borders - Greater Austin in Tanzania

Bio:

Mazen is a Mechanical Engineer with an extensive background in the Oil & Gas industry. After graduating with a BSME from the University of Texas at Austin, he worked for several Oil & Gas firms in the Houston-area in a variety of rolls. He also founded and sold a small business in the automotive sector. In 2016, Mazen and his spouse decided to move back to Austin, to start a family, and pursue a slower pace lifestyle. Mazen joined EWB Greater Austin as a member on the instrumentation team in 2016, and became the president of the chapter in 2019. Now you can find Mazen dividing his time between his work as a business growth consultant at his family business, Protech Body Shop, spending time with his one year toddler, Zane, and attempting to make things out of wood or metal at his workshop. Mazen is passionate about volunteerism, technology, humanism, and advancing the welfare of humans around the world.

Lizzie Wilson is an EIT at BGE, Inc. in Austin Texas. She has a BS and MS in Environmental Engineering and a BA in French from SMU. She conducted her masters research on soil and water in the Bolivian Altiplano. Professionally, she has largely worked on stormwater related projects, and really enjoys the modeling aspects of engineering. She has lived in 7 different states, but Austin is one of her favorite places to live. She has been involved in Engineers Without Borders since 2011, initially as a student and now as a professional. In addition to engineering and volunteering, she enjoys cooking, tennis, philosophy, learning how to create music and being outdoors.
